Fund Managers Comment

In September, the Fund increased by c.0.4% MoM while the Bloomberg GCC200 Index decreased by c.1.0% MoM. Since Inception (31st of October 2012), the Fund is up by c.24.7% (vs. c.16.8% for the BGCC200 Index) and down by c.4.7% year-to-date (vs. c.8.3% decrease for the BGCC200 Index) while focusing primarily on capital preservation.

In September, the recurring uncertainties over the timing and magnitude of the Fed tightening coupled with a deteriorating global growth outlook continued to pressure financial markets. We have momentarily decreased our appetite for beta and continue to overweight cash and sukuk in view of the ongoing volatility. Over the long(er) term fundamentals should prevail assuming investors will continue to seek returns in the current low yield environment.

We advocate the quality style comprising high growth, defensive earnings, high dividend yield and low debt / equity in the mid-large cap part of the market while actively managing beta. Within the GCC, we continue to favor Saudi Arabia which trades at relatively attractive valuations, high dividend yields, strong visibility in cash flows, relatively high earnings growth and low(er) systemic risk (5 years sovereign KSA CDS trading at c.136 vs. c.159 GCC average). We also see a medium term catalyst in the fact that Saudi is moving towards a more institutional-oriented equity market. On valuation, the GCC trades on c.11.8x forward P/E yielding c.3.9% and EM (Emerging Markets) on c.11.2x forward P/E yielding c.3.2%.
