Fund Managers Comment

In February, the Fund increased by c.0.9% MoM while the Bloomberg GCC 200 Index increased by c.3.5% MoM. Since Inception (31st of October 2012), the Fund is up by c.24.6% (vs. an increase of c.3.1% for the BGCC200 Index over the same period) and Year-to-Date the fund is up by c.+0.5% (vs. c.-6.1% for the BGCC200 Index) while focusing primarily on capital preservation. It is worth mentioning that we have (significantly) outperformed the benchmark as well as most similar regional investment funds both on the short and the long(er) term.

In February, global financial markets remained under pressure amid the deteriorating global growth outlook and persistent uncertainties regarding monetary policy. Regionally, lower commodity prices and on-going government spending cuts continue to cap risky asset returns. We continue to believe equities remain the asset class offering the best relative valuations and prospective returns over the long(er) term.

We advocate the quality style comprising high growth, defensive earnings, high dividend yield and low debt / equity in the mid-large cap part of the market while actively managing beta. Given the heightened volatility and uncertainty about medium-term growth; we continue to momentarily overweight cash and sukuk. Policy changes will remain a key driver of risky asset prices in the short term. On valuation, the GCC trades on c.10.1x forward P/E yielding c.3.5% and EM (Emerging Markets) on c.11.3x forward P/E yielding c.3.1%.
