Fund Managers Comment

In October, the Fund decreased by c.0.2% MoM while the Bloomberg GCC 200 Index increased by c.0.9% MoM. Since Inception (31st of October 2012), the Fund is up by c.25.1% (vs. an increase of c.3.3% for the BGCC200 Index over the same period) and Year-to-Date the fund is up by c.+0.9% (vs. a decrease of c.5.9% for the BGCC200 Index) while focusing primarily on capital preservation. It is worth mentioning that we continue to (significantly) outperform the benchmark as well as most similar regional investment funds both on the short and the long(er) term.

Globally, most listed assets continued to trade within the precincts of the ongoing feedback loop between central banks and markets. Regionally, the deceleration in oil-funded public capital spending continues to weight on listed companies; 3rd quarter earnings publications came on average below analysts and investors (bearish) expectations. We are defensively positioned for the short term but continue to believe equities remain the asset class offering the best relative valuations and prospective returns over the long(er) term.

We advocate the quality style comprising high growth, defensive earnings, high dividend yield and low debt / equity in the mid-large cap part of the market while actively managing beta. Given the heightened volatility and uncertainty about medium-term growth; we continue to momentarily overweight cash and sukuk. Macro policy changes will remain a key driver of risky asset prices in the short term. On valuation, the GCC trades on c.11.3x forward P/E yielding c.3.4% and EM (Emerging Markets) on c.17.2x forward P/E yielding c.2.6%.
